The Brown County United Way will host a community awareness information program on the crisis of dental health for children from low-income families in Brown County at the Green Bay Country Club on Tuesday, May 17.

Speakers for the event are all affiliated with programs now serving Brown County preschool and school age children with serious dental care needs. This program is part of a local coalition called the Brown County Oral Health Partnership of which the Brown County United Way is an active member.

Speakers include: Carrie Stempski, a dental hygienist, Gigi Saharsky, a member of the Green Bay Rotary Club who is involved with the Healthy Teeth, Healthy Kids project and Bonnie Kuhr from the N.E.W. Community Clinic.

The program is sponsored by the Emerging Leaders Society of the Brown County United Way to bring community awareness to the crisis levels of the situation.

The program is free and open to the public. It will be held from 7:30 - 9:00 a.m., at the Green Bay Country Club, 2400 Klondike Road, Green Bay. Registration is between 7 and 7:30 a.m.

Reservations are requested. Continental breakfast will be provided. Country club membership is not required.

The Brown County United Way Emerging Leaders Society is a network of young community leaders who invest time, talent and financial resources in our community by volunteering and charitable giving.

To make a reservation for this event, or to learn more about the Brown County United Way's Emerging Leaders Society, contact Jennifer Schnabel at 432-3393 Ext. 8644 or email jennifer@browncountyunitedway.org.
